The Book of NUMBERS

Introduction:

1. The book of Numbers is also called “the Book of Wanderings.”

2. It takes its name from the two wanderings and two numberings of the Israelites.
   a. The first numbering was at Mount Sinai.
   b. The second numbering was on the plains of Moab.

3. Most of the book describes Israel’s experiences as they wander in the wilderness: a redemptive history of Israel where the book of Exodus leaves off.
   a. Genesis is the book of origins.
   b. Exodus is the book of redemption.
   c. Leviticus is the book of worship and fellowship.
   d. Numbers is the book of the service and walk of God’s redeemed people.

4. It is a record of the failure of the redeemed people in the face of every divine provision for their welfare and success; an eleven day journey turned into a forty-year agony.
   a. We must decide if we remain in a wilderness or trust in God to pass through it.
   b. Jewish writings entitle the book “In the Wilderness.”
   c. The Greek Septuagint gave it the title Arithmoi, “Numbers.”
   d. It has also been called the “Book of the Journeying,” the book of “Murmurings, and the “Fourth Book of Moses.”
   e. The book is a warning against the dangers of unbelief.

5. Numbers, therefore, relates the history of Israel's 40-year wandering in the wilderness.
   a. Most of the events recorded occurred in the second and fortieth years of that period.
   b. Only two specific incidents from the other 38 years are told: Korah and Aaron's rod.
   c. The book is an account of God's patience, pardon, and protection for his Chosen People in the desert.

6. Numbers shows how the Israelites were chastened and trained in the wilderness as preparation for their entry into Canaan.
   a. The story is sad because of the people's unbelief, grumbling, and rebellion.
   b. It is encouraging because of what it shows about God's willingness to forgive, restore, and bring the faithful to victory.

7. The “wilderness wanders” are given special attention in the New Testament regarding the consequences of unfaithfulness to God.

a. They are used as a warning in the book of Hebrews, chapters three and four.

1) Christians are partakers of the heavenly calling, and Christ is the Apostle and High Priest of their confession.
2) Christ was faithful to God and has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses.
3) Christ has built His own house, whose temple we are.
4) THEREFORE; we should not harden our hearts as they did in the wilderness.
5) Christians are warned about having an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God.
6) Christians must hold fast to their confession and their confidence must be steadfast.
7) The Israelites heard God’s word through Moses; however, they rebelled and as a result died in the wilderness.
8) Their unbelief in God’s word prevented them from obeying; thus, resulting in their deaths in the wilderness.
9) THEREFORE; let us fear lest we come short of our rest in heaven.
10) The word they heard was not united with faith (not digested properly).
11) Joshua did not give them the desire rest; therefore, there remains a greater rest ahead.
12) THEREFORE; let us be diligent to enter the rest lest any fall because of disobedience.
13) The word of God is powerful if we let it rule in our hearts.
14) Let us hold fast our confession.
15) THEREFORE: let us come boldly to the throne of grace obtain mercy and help in time of need.

b. They are used as a warning in 1 Corinthians 10:1-13.

1) The Rock, Jesus Christ, was with them as they were baptized into Moses in the cloud and the Red Sea.
2) God gave them spiritual food and drink supplied by the Rock, Christ.
3) However, God was not well pleased with most of them; therefore, their bodies were scattered in the wilderness.
4) These things happened for our example to the intent that we should not lust after evil things as they did.
5) Christians should not become idolaters as they did.
6) Christians should not tempt Christ as they did.
7) Christians should not complain as they did.

8) These things are written for our admonition.
9) God will help us with the temptations that come our way.

8. The book opens at Sinai in the second year after the nation's escape from Egypt and closes on the eve of the entry into Canaan.

Discussion:
I. Background to the Book of Numbers. 3

A. Moses was the original compiler of the materials in this book.
   1. This is the consistent tradition of both Jews and Christians.
   2. Its detailed and accurate account of the desert events points to Moses as the eyewitness author.

B. Numbers 33:2 tells how Moses kept a "stage by stage" record of the wilderness movements of the Hebrews.

C. The journey from Egypt to Canaan could have been completed in a matter of weeks.
   1. It was the unbelief of the people that turned it into a 40-year trek.
   2. God waited for a whole generation to die off before allowing the younger generation to possess Canaan.
   3. Only Joshua and Caleb survived from the older group.

D. Surely the book was intended originally to remind the younger generation of the unbelief of their fathers and to call them to faithfulness in their new land.

II. The Message of the Book of Numbers:

A. Numbers is a call to faithfulness.

B. Can a called, chosen, and saved people fall away from God and perish?
   1. Several false theologies contain the doctrine of "once saved always saved."
   2. Divinely recorded history tells us that the saved can become unsaved. 1 Cor. 10:1-13.
   3. The Bible repeatedly warns against falling away through unbelief. Deut. 28:1, 15; Heb. 3:12-19; 6:1-8; Jas. 5:19-1

C. Men always "wander in circles" when they disregard the Lord: we move forward only as we trust God and walk by faith.

3 The Background and Message material are from: A Book-By-Book Study of the Old Testament by R. B. Shelly as resourced in the Bibliography, pages 21, 22. It has excellent Old Testament resource material outlines.

2. Balaam inquired of God, and God said, ‘No…for they are a blessed people.’
3. Balak sent men again to Balaam and offered him whatever was necessary for him to curse the people; however, Balaam said he “could not go beyond the word of the Lord, but he would check again.
4. Lord told Balaam to go on but he would bless Israel instead.
5. His leaving angered the Lord so the Angel of the Lord stood in Balaam’s and the donkey’s way.
   a. The donkey refused to go any further and it spoke to Balaam.
   b. The Lord opened the eyes of Balaam and told him to go to Balak, but he will speak only what the Lord put into his mouth.

W. Chapter Twenty-Three: Balaam Blesses Israel;

1. Seven altars were built and seven bulls and seven rams were offered.
2. When Balaam spoke, Israel was blessed and God was glorified.
3. Barak was upset with Balaam, but Balaam said he could only speak what God had placed in his mouth.
4. Again, seven more altars were built and seven bulls and seven rams were offered.
5. When Balaam spoke again, he glorified the strength of God and declared that nothing could work against His plan for Israel.
6. Balak then took Balaam to the top of Peor and built seven more altars and offered seven more bulls and seven more rams.

X. Chapter Twenty-Four: Balaam Continues to Bless Israel;

1. Balaam took up an oracle which praised the Lord and blessed Israel.
2. The words of Balaam angered King Balak.
3. Balaam responded with a fourth prophecy which included the coming birth of Jesus Christ.

Y. Chapter Twenty-Five: Israel’s History in Moab;

1. The people committed harlotry with the women of Moab.
2. The people offered sacrifices to the gods of Moab.
3. Eleazar, a son of Aaron, ran a spear through a Midianite woman and a guilty Israelite, and the Lord praised his zeal; thus, God’s anger was prevented from consuming all of Israel.
4. God sent a plague among them killing 24,000.
5. God ordered Moses to harass and attack the Midianites because they seduced Israel with their schemes.

Z. Chapter Twenty-Six: The Second Census of Israel;

3. Moses commanded them to kill every male child and the Midianite women who were guilty of sexual immorality.
4. Afterwards, they were commanded to clean everything.
5. God gave instructions on how to divide the plunder.

FF. Chapter Thirty-Two: Some Tribes Settle East of the Jordan;

1. The tribes of Reuben and Gad wanted to settle on the east side of Jordan.
2. Moses asked them, “Shall your brethren go to war while you sit here?”
3. Moses also asked them, “Now why will you discourage the heart of the children of Israel from going over into the land which the LORD has given them?
4. In essence, Moses was also asking, “Has God saved you just to sit and watch your brethren fight the battles necessary to inherit the promised land west of the Jordan River?”
5. They agreed to send their men into battles with the other tribes while they worked at settling east of the Jordan.
6. The Lord gave Gad, Reuben, and the half tribe of Manasseh land on the east side of Jordan.

GG. Chapter Thirty-Three: Israel’s Journey from Egypt Is Reviewed;

1. Moses wrote down the starting point of their journeys from place to place.
2. Aaron died on Mount Hor during the fortieth year of the journey in the wilderness.
3. Instructions are given for the conquest of Canaan.
   a. Drive out all of the inhabitants and tear down all of the idols.
   b. Divide the land by lot for the tribes.
   c. If they do not drive them out, Israel will suffer the consequences.

HH. Chapter Thirty-Four: Boundaries of Canaan Are Appointed;

1. The southern border would be along the boundary of Edom.
2. It will go east to the Salt Sea (Dead Sea).
3. It will go west to the Brook of Egypt (Today called “Wadi El Arish”).
4. The western border will be the Great Sea (Mediterranean Sea).
5. The northern border will be to Mount Hor.
6. The eastern border will be along the Jordan River and end at the Salt Sea.
7. Leaders were appointed to Divide the land.
II. Chapter Thirty-Five: Cities for the Levites and Cities of Refuge;

1. Cities were appointed for the Levites to live in.
2. Cities were provided for refuge regarding certain crimes.

JJ. Chapter Thirty-Six: Rule for the Marriage of Female Heirs;

1. Inheritance is to be kept within each of the tribes.
2. These commandments and judgments were commanded by the Lord to the children of Israel by the hand of Moses in the plains of Moab by the Jordan, across from Jericho.

IV. Major Themes and/or Issues of the Book of Numbers: 5

A. The taking of a census among the Hebrew people.

1. The first census was taken 13 months after the exodus. Num. 1:1.
2. It included only the men of age 20 and over who were eligible for military service. Num. 1:2-3, 45.
4. The total number was 603,550. Num. 1:46; 2:32.
5. This is a large figure which suggest a nation of two or three million souls.

   a. At the time of the descent into Egypt in Joseph's time, there were only 75 people.
   b. Could 75 people multiply to over 2,000,000 in a period of 430 years? Cf. Ex. 12:40.

6. Delitzsch (Pentateuch II. 30) has shown how this figure could result in ten generations from an average of three sons and three daughters to every married couple of the first six generations and an average of two sons and two daughters in the last four generations.

   a. Liberal scholars profess great skepticism about such a large number.
   b. The Bible claims the great number to be a result of God's blessing on the Hebrews to make them especially fertile (Ex. 1:7, 12).

c. The promise to Abraham was being fulfilled - Genesis 12

d. Only the great number given in the text would make sense of Pharaoh's fear of the Hebrews (Ex. 1:9).

7. Recent attempts to explain the "thousands" of Numbers as "family units" or "captains" are unjustified and unnecessary.

a. The harsh desert life took its toll on their fruitfulness.

b. Thousands perished because of God's punishments against their faithlessness.

B. Walking by faith versus walking by sight. Cf. 2 Cor. 5:7.

1. Two to three million people in the desert.

a. The land was desolate.

b. Water was scarce to non-existent, and food was not available.

2. God asked the people to trust Him to supply all.

3. Repeatedly, however, they grumbled, challenged Moses, and otherwise showed their faithlessness.

4. Nineteen days after ordering the census, God told the people to walk toward the Promised Land. Num. 10:11.

5. No more than three day’s journey from Sinai (10:33-36), the problems began:

b. The cry for meat. Num. 11:4-35.

c. Moses is opposed by Miriam and Aaron. Num. 12.

6. The nation was sentenced to 40 years in the wilderness because of their actions at Kadesh. Num. 13:ff.

a. Moses was prepared to lead the people directly into Canaan.

b. Twelve spies were sent to bring back a report of the land.

c. Only two had faith enough to say they could proceed confidently: Joshua and Caleb.

d. The camp sided with the faithless ten and wanted to return to Egypt; Joshua and Caleb made an eloquent but vain plea. Num. 14:4-10.

e. God spared the nation from extinction only because of Moses' intercession, but he condemned it to wandering in the desert until the older generation died off. Num. 14:11-38.
f. The people were then ashamed and decided to take Canaan, but the Lord was no longer party to the plan and they were defeated. Num. 14:39-45.

7. How stern is the warning to all subsequent generations from this event: walk by faith and not by sight! Cf. 1 Cor. 10.

C. The wrath of a Holy God.

2. Some critics freely speak of these events as "sub-Christian" and distinguish sharply between the God of the Old Testament and the God of the New Testament.

3. The fault here is not with God but in his critics.
   a. We are so tolerant of evil that we cannot appreciate a harsh attitude toward it.
   b. We are unwilling to face the fact of God's wrath because we know our own sinfulness so well.

4. Divine wrath is as holy as divine love; it is not capricious and unpredictable, as human wrath often is.

1. The brass serpent in the wilderness was a type of Jesus' death by crucifixion. John 3:14-15.

2. Jesus referred to the daily manna in explaining his role as the "bread of life." John 6:32-40.

4. Paul declares that Jesus was active throughout the wilderness events to provide for the people's needs (1 Cor. 10:4); how much more does he supply our needs today.

V. A Summary Guide to the Book of Numbers.

Thirteen months after the exodus, God called for a census to be taken of the nation (1:1-16). The men above 20 were numbered (1:17-46), and the tribes were assigned marching positions (2:1--). Exempted from the army census (1:47-54), the Levites were numbered separately and assigned their duties (3:1-4:49).

Before the march began, laws were given about excluding the unclean from camp (5:1-4), restitution (5:5-10), and trying a person accused of marital infidelity (5:11-31). A special Nazirite vow was provided for anyone wishing to live a specially consecrated life (6:1-27). Special offerings were made for the Tabernacle (7:1-89). The priests were sanctified to their work (8:1-26), and the first Passover memorial was observed (9:1-14). At this point in the narrative, the functions of the cloud of guidance (9:15-23) and the trumpet signals were explained (10:1-10).

The events of 38 years are described in the next section. On signal from God, the march toward Canaan began (10:11-36). The complaints of the people also began (11:1-9) and Moses asked the Lord for help in leading them (11:10-15). Seventy elders were appointed (11:16-30), and God sent quail to stop their complaint about the lack of meat (11:31-35). When Moses married a Cushite woman, Aaron and Miriam complained about his leadership and were punished by God (12:1-16).

Following the spies' report at Kadesh, a great rebellion caused the people to be turned back into the desert (13:1-14:45). This was the event which turned a march of a few weeks into one which was to last 40 years—one year for each day the spies were in the land of Canaan.

After some additional laws were given (15:1-41), a new rebellion broke out under Korah (16:1-14). God destroyed the rebels (16:15-40), and then the whole camp began to murmur that the punishment was too severe. For their murmuring, they were cursed with a deadly plague (11:41-50). It killed 14,700 victims above the number which had already died in Korah's rebellion. Since the original rebellion involved a challenge to Aaron's high priesthood, a sign from God was given to vindicate his position (17:1-13). The duties and rights of the priests and Levites are stated (18:1-32), and the function of the water of purification is specified (19:1-22).

The sin of Moses at Kadesh which barred him from the land of Canaan is related (20:1-13).

The Edomites refused to allow the Hebrews to pass through their territory (20:14-21). Thus the people began to move southward. At Mount Hor, Aaron died and was buried (20:22), then attacked by a Canaanite chieftain in the area, and God gave Israel the victory over him (21:1-3). Beset by these new problems, the Israelites began to murmur again, and God sent fiery serpents among them (21:4-9). As the people approached the area east of Jordan (21:10-20), Moses asked permission to pass through the territory of the Amorites under King Sihon (21:21-22). Sihon replied with an attack by his army, was killed, and his territory possessed by the Hebrews (21:23-25).

The people were in the valley of the Jordan, across from Jericho (22:1). Balak, fearing them, hired Balaam to curse them (22:2-41). Instead, God caused him to bless Israel (23:1-24:25). As the Hebrews were camped near Moab, they began to take some of the Moabite women as prostitutes and to worship Baal (25:1-5). A plague was sent among them which killed 24,000 of the Israelites (25:6-18).

The second census of the book was taken following the plague, and 601,730 men above age 20 were numbered (26:1-51). Plans for dividing up the new land were made (26:52-27:11), Joshua was chosen to replace Moses (27:12-23), and several laws about sacrifices and vows were given (28:1-30:16).

With the Midianites destroyed (31:1-54), Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh were given their share of land in the Transjordan—with the understanding that they would fight with their brothers to clear the pagans out of Canaan (32:1-42). After a summary of Israel's journey from Egypt to Moab (33:1-49), the book closes with some details of the plan for dividing Canaan among the tribes about to enter it (33:50-36:13).

Conclusion:

1. The older generation has died, and the younger generation has been prepared for Canaan.

2. Numbers closes with the people ready to take possession of the Promised Land in fulfillment of the promise made to Abraham.

3. After Moses' farewell instructions (recorded in Deuteronomy), the people will enter the land. 6

DEUTERONOMY 8:7-10

Charles R. Williams
Introduction:

1. Deuteronomy is principally concerned with three farewell discourses of Moses at the end of his career as Israel's statesman, leader, and prophet.
   a. The distinctive feature of the book is its hortatory (i.e., warning, advising, encouraging) nature.
   b. All its appeals may be summed up in the words of Deut. 6:4-12.
   c. Jesus called this the first and greatest of all the commandments: Matt. 22:37-38.

2. The name of the book today is “Deuteronomy.”
   a. The name is derived from the Greek Septuagint translation and means "second law."
   b. This is based on the fact that it consists of a restatement of the law given in Exodus, Leviticus, and Numbers.
   c. The earliest name of the book was Haddebharim, which means “The Words,” taken from the opening phrase in 1:1, “These are the words…”
   d. The book has been called “five-fifths of the Law” since it completes the five books of Moses.
   e. The Jewish people have also called it Mishneh Deuteronomion Touto, “This Second Law.”
      1) Actually, Deuteronomy is not a second law, but an adaptation and expansion of the original law given at Mt. Sinai.
      2) There is a vast amount of legal detail, but its emphasis is on the everyday individual rather than the priests.
      3) The book has also been appropriately called “The Book of Remembrance.”

3. The Law of Moses was given first at Mt. Sinai to an older generation which was now dead.
   a. It is now given a second time to the younger generation as it prepares to receive the Promised Land.
   b. It is thus a reminder of what God expects of His people.

4. It covers a relatively short span of time.

a. At the site of their last encampment on the plains of Moab, Moses pleads with the people to honor their God.

b. The book closes with an account of Moses' death, which was probably written by Joshua.

5. Based on the date assigned the exodus earlier in these notes, we are now at ca. 1407 B.C.

Discussion:

I. Background to the Book of Deuteronomy.

A. The book was produced by the Holy Spirit through Moses.

1. Moses' words are recorded throughout the book: Deut. 1:1; 4:44; 29:1.
4. The account of Moses' death (34:1-12) was surely added by someone else—probably Joshua.

B. It was written in Moses' 120th year, just as the 40-year period in the desert was ending and the people were preparing to enter Canaan: Deut. 31:2

C. The purpose for writing the book was to remind the people of the nation's history and to-call them to a close walk with God in the new land.

1. History showed that there is no other way but to "trust and obey."

2. Their future in Canaan could be a prosperous one if this lesson were to be remembered. Cf. Deut. 30:15-20.
II. The Message of the Book of Deuteronomy.

A. The theme of the book is obedience.
   1. God blesses the obedient and punishes the disobedient.
   2. James 1:22 admonishes us to be “doers of the word and not hearers only.”

B. Our proud human spirits balk at commands and resist authority.
   1. Moses argued that everything depended on the obedience of the people—life, land, victory in war, prosperity, happiness, etc.
   2. To disobey God is not to be free but is rather to be foolish.

C. Obedience is no less important under the gospel than it was under the Law of Moses.
   1. Several of Paul's statements about law and grace in Romans have been grossly misinterpreted so as to minimize human responsibility in salvation.
   2. But no one is clearer than Paul about the responsibility of obedience: Rom. 1:5; 16:19, 26.

III. Outline of the Book of Deuteronomy:

A. Chapter One: The Previous Command to Enter Canaan Is Given;
   1. God commands Israel to prepare to enter the promised land of Canaan.
   2. Tribal leaders are appointed.
   3. Israel refused to enter the land.
   4. The penalty for rebellion is announced.

B. Chapter Two: The Desert Years;
   1. It was time to leave the mountain.
   2. King Sihon is defeated.

C. Chapter Three: Others Are Defeated:
   1. King Og is defeated.

2. Israel wept for Moses for thirty days.
3. There was never a prophet like Moses whom the Lord knew face to face in Israel.

IV. Major Themes and/or Issues in the Book of Deuteronomy: 9

A. The doctrine of the unity of God: Deut. 6:4-9.

1. These verses, followed by Deut. 11:13-21 and Num. 15:37-41, constitute the celebrated Hebrew Shema (Heb., hear) which is recited twice daily by pious Jews at every synagogue service to this day.

2. God alone is worthy of worship is an emphasis of Christianity as well as Judaism: 1 Cor. 8:5-6.

3. The Bible teaches that God exists in three persons who are fully equal.

   a. Three individuals but not three Gods: One God; one deity, one divine family, one Godhead.

   b. Some of the biblical evidence can be found in Matt. 3:16-17; Rom. 8:9; 1 Cor. 12:3-6; 2 Cor. 13:14; Eph. 4:4-6.

B. Israel as God's "chosen people": Deut. 7:6ff.

1. This motif appears here and recurs frequently throughout Scripture.

2. They were not chosen by partiality or because of their own greatness, etc.

3. They were chosen by love and divine faithfulness to a promise made much earlier to Abraham.

4. Israel seems never to have understood that it was chosen unto responsibility rather than selfish privilege: Deut. 10:12-13.

5. Failing to keep their appointed role, the Israelites were rejected as God's chosen people. Deut. 30:15ff.

6. The church is God's chosen people today, and we must fill the role of service assigned us or be rejected ourselves: Rom. 2:28-29; 3:1-3

C. Why Moses did not enter Canaan.

1. The book of Deuteronomy shows a very sad ending to the career of Moses.
   a. He is speaking his final words to a people he has led for 40 years.
   b. He knows he will not enter Canaan with them.

3. Moses' sin was evidently twofold:
   a. He dishonored the Lord and put Himself forward as the one who was providing for Israel, “Hear now, you rebels: shall we (i.e., Moses and Aaron) bring you forth water out of this rock?”
   b. He disobeyed the Lord by striking the rock instead of speaking to it.

4. God is no respecter of persons, so Moses had to die in the wilderness along with the rest of the older generation which had sinned there.

V. A Summary Guide to the Book of Deuteronomy:

The first address is a survey of the nation's past. After a statement of the setting for his speech (1:1-4), the book tells how Moses reminded the people of the sin which caused the trip from Horeb (Sinai) to Canaan to take 40 years (1:5-46) and of the experiences in the wilderness (2:1-3:29). He exhorted them to obey the Lord (4:1-14), shun idols (4:15-31), and honor their privileged relationship with God (4:32-40). He ended this discourse by setting aside three cities of refuge in the Transjordan area (4:41-43).

B. Moses' second discourse. Deut. 4:44-26:19.

This address is a detailed survey of the basic laws the people were expected to keep. After the setting for the speech is given (4:44-49), Moses is shown repeating the Decalogue (5:1-21) and reviewing the circumstance of its original communication at Sinai (5:22-33). He told the people not only to keep the covenant themselves but also to teach it diligently to their descendants (6:1-25).

He impressed the fact that God was destroying the Canaanites because of their idolatry (7:1-5) and urged Israel to walk uprightly before God (7:6-11:32).

Moses reviewed their duties about true worship (12:1-13:18), clean and unclean animals (14:1-21), tithes (14:22-29), treatment of the poor (15:1-23), and holy days (16:1-17). He then turned to civil matters involving the procedures for social justice (16:18-20). The death penalty is prescribed for idolatry (16:21-17:7). A system of court appeal for hard cases is provided (17:8-13), and provision for a king over Israel is made (17:14-20). The revenue for priests and Levites is specified (18:1-8). The severe penalties for dabbling with the occult (18:9-14) and false prophesying (18:15-22) are stated. Then follows a long list of laws and penalties for their violation (19:1-26:19).

The third address by Moses points forward. When the people had crossed over into Canaan, they were supposed to assemble in the land between Mt. Ebal and Mt. Gerizim to pledge themselves to covenant (27:1-26). Moses then traced the blessings which would follow obedience (28:1-14) and the curses which would follow disobedience (28:15-68). He closed with a moving appeal for their faithfulness to God (29:1-30:20).

D. The farewell: Deut. 31:1-34:12.

Moses commended the people to God (31:1-6) and publicly urged Joshua as his successor (31:7-8). He then delivered the law to Israel's leaders (31:9-29). A prophetic song was then composed and delivered to the people (31:30-32:43). His final charge to the people was given (32:44-47), and God summoned him to die: (48-52). As Jacob before him, he blessed Israel by tribes: (1-29). His death is told in the last chapter of the book (34:1-12).

Conclusion:
1. We have concluded our survey of the Pentateuch.
   a. The people are no longer expecting "new truth."
   b. They are being encouraged to remember and to be faithful to what God had already revealed.
2. These five books must be kept in mind as background to the entire body of Holy Scripture.
3. Historically, we are about to enter a great new period in Israel’s history as the nation goes into Canaan.
